LOOKING FORWARD

If you're looking forward to the new photo directory and wondering where it is, we're working on it! There have been a number of new families in recent weeks and we want to make sure they get included. If you or somebody you know has not submitted photos for the directory, take a quick photo on a phone and send it to us! The photos don't have to be professional quality, just try to position things so that there is even lighting on your face.
